Scientific conference

Glagolism – heritage, tradition, innovation

First call for papers

Dear colleagues,

The year 2022 marks the 120th anniversary of the founding of the Old Church Slavonic Academy in Krk and 70th anniversary of the founding of its successor, the Old Church Slavonic Institute in Zagreb. Our previous milestone anniversaries (1992, 2002, 2012) were celebrated with scientific conferences attended by an impressive number of presenters taking a large variety of approaches and were thus leading events for the research of Glagolism as an important pillar of Croatian social, ecclesiastical and cultural history and one of the most prominent Croatian contributions to European cultural history.

We will continue this tradition in the upcoming anniversary year through a scientific conference entitled Glagolism – heritage, tradition, innovation, which is to take place in Krk from 20 to 22 October 2022. The conference is co-organised by the Old Church Slavonic Institute, the Roman Catholic Diocese of Krk, the Catholic Faculty of Theology at the University of Zagreb, and the Scientific Centre of Excellence for Croatian Glagolism. The aim of the conference is to reflect on the legacy of Glagolism (heritage), its transfer in the past and present (tradition), and how to preserve it in the future (innovation).

You are cordially invited to present your research at the conference. Please inform us of your intent to participate by sending the title of your paper and abstract written in line with the attached instructions by 15 March 2022 to an email to glagoljastvo2022@gmail.com. The paper can be delivered in any Slavic language or in English, German, Italian or French.

We are looking forward to your response!
